

Internship: Monitoring of EU projects and development of the RURENER network (M/F)

RURENER is building its working team. If you are a convinced European, an enthusiastic believer in sustainable development and are looking for a fulfilling internship, here is your chance to join us!

The organization:

RURENER is a European network of rural communities engaged in the energy transition. Our vision is to build a European Union self-conscious of the potentials of its territories, and especially its rural territories, to realize the energy transition. By addressing the energy issues, we promote a transversal approach of rural development. Through our members' experiences, we highlight the crucial role of rural territories to make the energy transition a reality in Europe, and we seek to make rural territories' voice heard and acknowledged in Brussels.

Our missions:

- Be the voice of rural European communities in the fight against climate change
- Promote the sharing of good practices and concrete cooperation between European communities.
- Give these communities the tools to elaborate and conduct their energy strategy.
- Promote technical, organizational and social innovations experienced in the field

Intern's tasks:

The internship focuses on two main missions: the monitoring of EU projects and the development and animation of the network.

The first mission will consist of supporting the RURENER staff in the building of new projects...:

- Identifying partners,
- Building and facilitating partnerships,
- Building a work plan

... And in the conduct of funded projects:

- Monitoring the project's advancement,
- Activity and financial reporting,
- Conduct of activities

All of these tasks will be conducted with the support of the RURENER's European coordinator and RURENER project manager, offering you a good opportunity to build capacity on the building and conduct of EU projects.

Our main current project is the COLEOPTER project, funded by the European Regional Development Fund through the Interreg Sudoe programme. This project involves 8 partners in France, Spain and Portugal and aims at developing a consensus-building based approach of energy efficiency in public buildings. As project leader, RURENER assumes the role of coordination with the different partners (reporting, project meetings, financial monitoring...). Operationally, RURENER is in charge of activities related to the conduct of territorial dialogue to build the participative approach of the project, and communication and dissemination of the project.

You will contribute to the day-to-day management of the project, thus getting acquainted with the EU projects processes and dynamics. In addition, you will be involved in the dissemination of the project's first results via the development of on and offline communication activities and materials.

In addition to the COLEOPTER project, you will contribute to other projects involving RURENER both at the building and development phase. Indeed, the period of January to June is particularly busy between calls for new project proposals and answer from previously submitted applications.

This internship could lead to a long-term contract in case of successful project applications, which is why we are looking for highly motivated candidates, sharing RURENER's vision and values.

The second mission you will have is related to the development and animation of the RURENER network. Relying on your interpersonal skills and other communication skills (website, social media, Newsletter), you will develop RURENER's communication tools and activities nurture the link with our members (rural municipalities or groups of municipalities across Europe). This will include the direct contact with the members to collect their needs for support and the participation in meetings at the EU level to bring up their voice to European decision-makers. The activities developed within this mission remain open and we are expecting you to bring new ideas into the network!

What we expect from you is a great energy and motivation to keep up the network's dynamic!

Profile:

- Master's 1 or 2 in European affairs, international cooperation, rural development, political science; or any other relevant field
- Ability to mobilize a diversity of stakeholders;
- Knowledge in European/international lobbying in the energy transition sector;
- Strong interpersonal skills;
- Interest for the energy transition in rural territories is necessary;
- Fluent use of English is essential (written/spoken); fluency in at least one other EU languages will be strongly appreciated
- Research and analysis skills (ability to summarize, good writing skills, forceful page layout)
- Use of online communication tools (social media, MailChimp, Wordpress, etc);
- Past experience in a non-profit organization will be valued.

Length of the internship: 6 months starting in January

Place: Clermont-Ferrand (63000), France and possibility of business trip in Europe

Compensation: legal internship compensation according to the French legislation + transportation costs
